

City of Miami, Florida

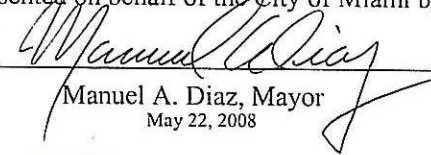

Salutes

Christo and Jeanne-Claude

On the occasion of the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the installation of Surrounded Islands, the City of Miami celebrates the enduring cultural legacy of artists Christo and Jeanne-Claude. Their environmental work of art, the encircling of each of eleven man-made islands of Biscayne Bay for two weeks in May 1983, served to introduce the world to the artistic potential and natural beauty of Miami. On behalf of our citizens, it is fitting and appropriate that the Mayor and the City Commission pay tribute to the creative genius and vision of these artists, whose work remains in the hearts and minds of all Miamians and visitors who had the opportunity to experience Surrounded Islands.

Presented on behalf of the City of Miami by

Manuel A. Diaz, Mayor
May 22, 2008

